"The audience response to 'Donny & Marie' has been overwhelmingly positive," said Don Marrandino, President of Flamingo Las Vegas. "Each night they perform to a packed showroom and receive standing ovation after standing ovation. Donny and Marie fans are coming from all over the country and all parts of the globe to see this show; they give people another reason to come to Las Vegas."

Opening Sept. 9 to sold-out crowds, the "little bit country, little bit rock n' roll" duo dazzles audiences and takes them on an entertaining, multi-media journey, showcasing their careers both together and individually. The pair performs some of their most memorable hits including "It Takes Two," "Morning Side of the Mountain," "I'm Leavin' It All Up to You" and "Deep Purple."

Under the direction of award-winning director and choreographer Barry Lather, "Donny & Marie" is bursting with intricate choreography that incorporates all forms of dance, including jazz, modern, hip-hop and swing. The expertise of accomplished musical director, Jerry Williams, is evident throughout with sparkling charts and high-energy instrumentals.

"Donny and Marie are such seasoned performers that we had a lot of fun bringing out their individual personalities through dance and movement," said Lather. "They are supported by eight sensational dancers resulting in a first-class production that appeals to audiences from all walks of life."

Housed in the legendary Flamingo showroom, fans will find that there is not a bad seat in the house. With five large video monitors, and a stage thrust that jets out well into the audience, the 750-seat venue allows show-goers to be in the center of the action and get up close and personal with their favorite Osmonds.

"The Flamingo is rich in history and has been home to some of Las Vegas' finest entertainers, Wayne Newton, Gladys Knight, and most recently Toni Braxton," said Gans. "We feel privileged to be part of that legendary line up."

MARIE OSMOND

Singing and dancing at age three in her television debut on The Andy Williams Show marked the launch of Marie Osmond's stellar career. At age 13, Marie's first single, "Paper Roses," made history debuting as #1 on the country music charts and soon after went Gold. Her rapidly growing popularity then led to Marie's success as the youngest-ever host of a hit television variety show, Donny & Marie. From televised movies and feature films ("The Gift of Love," "Side by Side,") to a CMA award-winning country song ("Meet Me in Montana,") Marie became a crossover star on Broadway with the lead role in "The King and I" and as Maria in "The Sound of Music." She's a New York Times best-selling author ("Behind the Smile") and created an 18-year award-winning business, "Marie Osmond Fine Porcelain Collector Dolls," which is the top-selling doll line on QVC. Marie is a co-founder of The Children's Miracle Network, which has raised almost $4 billion for children's hospitals in North America, and will soon expand internationally. Over 22 million people tuned in each week to watch Marie's whole-hearted performances, winning her countless new fans who voted her to the finale, on season five of ABC's Dancing With the Stars. Her proudest achievement, though, is being a mother to eight beautiful children. For additional information on Marie Osmond visit <http://www.marieosmond.com/>.
