"Californians have been coming to my show for years, and with the economy in recession and soaring gas prices, I wanted to offer a special deal to help offset the cost of traveling to Las Vegas," said King. "Now my neighbors in California can enjoy some laughter and magic during their Vegas getaway at an even better price."

During the past 11 years, King has welcomed more than one million audience members to his show. Recently, he signed a contract to continue providing laughter and magic at Harrah's Las Vegas for five more years, extending his run through 2015.

Sought after worldwide, King has made several high-profile appearances including: "The Late Show with David Letterman," The Magic Castle, home of the Academy of Magical Arts, The Luminato Festival "Masters of Magic" series in Toronto, Canada, and Gilda's Laugh Fest, honoring the late Gilda Radner. Mac King has been consistently lauded throughout his impressive run. Las Vegas Review-Journal named his show the "Best Bargain Show" for eight straight years (2003-2011) and deemed him "Favorite Male Las Vegas" in 2008. King, a past NBC-TV "The World's Greatest Magic Shows" regular, has also been decorated as Magic Magazine's "Funniest Act in Magic," the World Magic Awards' "Best Comedy Magician" and the Magic Castle's "Magician of the Year."
