"Flamingo Las Vegas is an icon – it's impossible to think of Las Vegas without thinking of the Flamingo," said Adler. "It was a thrill to be able to create a collection that combines Flamingo Las Vegas' rich history with my favorite fresh, modern colors, patterns and the glamour of the city itself. Forget tiny shampoo bottles – these pieces are what you'll want to stuff in your suitcase to take home."

"We are grateful and thrilled that Jonathan Adler has lent his remarkable talent to Flamingo Las Vegas," said Ken Janssen, senior vice president and general manager of Flamingo Las Vegas. "Adler has focused his fresh and modern approach to style to creatively marry the classic Vegas appeal that Flamingo has embodied for nearly 75 years. We are certain our guests will appreciate his skillful design work in each hotel room and throughout the resort."

Additionally, Adler contributed his talent to the newly opened Bugsy & Meyer's Steakhouse inside the resort, designing a custom hand-beaded flamingo piece that took nearly 100 hours to make. The stunning piece overlooking the restaurant's centerpiece bar contains a dazzling cornucopia of glass beads of varying heights and patterns within patterns for a sense of depth and dimension.

In early 2019, Flamingo Las Vegas completed a $156 million room renovation, with two-thirds of the 3,500 total guest rooms and suites redesigned in the past four years. The remodeled rooms feature contemporary, retro-chic designs that celebrate the resort's iconic history, with vibrant hues of gold and bright pops of flamingo pink. The most recent phase of renovations also introduced new Bunk Bed Rooms and one of the largest dedicated Bunk Bed Suites in the United States.

Flamingo Las Vegas has implemented Caesars Entertainment, Inc.'s ("Caesars," "Caesars Entertainment", or the "Company") new health and safety protocols, which enhance its existing plans and practices in these areas. All Caesars properties are focused on the well-being of team members, guests and the community, and continue to work to create an environment with high standards of sanitization and physical distancing practices. Among the enhanced health and safety protocols include more frequent cleaning and sanitization. Caesars has also implemented a health screening program for all employees. Team members and guests are required to wear masks, which the Company makes available, at all Caesars properties.
